Gainsborough, the leading silver tableware manufacturer probably has the largest selection of tooling for producing silver plated cutlery & serving ware in the UK. The in-house facilities allow us to customise or personalise items as required and we also have over 100 different patterned wires with which we can decorate our products, to give that extra special touch.

All of our products are made out of thick gauge nickel or brass, and then coated with a heavy deposit of silver, giving them years of use even in the busiest of dining establishments.
